

Understanding Your Needs

"Frontline assisted us at a critical point in the development of our Joint Health and Wellbeing Strategy, specifically with the necessary strategic conversations at the Health and Wellbeing Board, and assisting with the drafting of the document. They quickly understood our needs and the environment we were working in and responded positively and professionally to our requirements at all times."

Head of Service - Care & Support Reform
Enfield Council

"Frontline provided a professional end-to-end service in co-producing and delivering a series of learning and development events and materials for NHS Clinical Commissioning Group lay members. The Frontline team have an in-depth knowledge of the subject area and their previous NHS experience proved critical in providing us with a programme which was expertly tailored to the needs of our audience. The programme evaluation speaks for itself and reflects the very high standard of training consultation provided by the Frontline team. It has been a pleasure working with them".

Senior Commissioning Policy Manager
NHS England

"Frontline have long been effective partners of leadership development in the NHS. They bring a huge knowledge of the sector and our needs. On the Executive Fast Track Programme they have offered a couple of unique contributions: working off what was an initially vague and uninformed brief they have delivered a helpfully tailored and flexible response to our leadership development needs. They have helped us both develop thinking and action in our work. They bring a deeply pragmatic approach coupled with some creative thinking and robust challenge."

Interim Managing Director
NHS Leadership Academy

"Frontline has provided a broad range of expertise to the Driving Standards Agency to support our Safe Driving for Life Change Programme, and has demonstrated a continuing ability to understand our needs and to provide focused and timely responses. While providing challenge and rigour to the programme, Frontline has also presented a professional and credible face to our stakeholders."

Deputy Chief Executive and Director of Strategy and Performance
DSA

